GRADUATE PROGRAMS AT THE DEPARTMENTS OF ENGLISH LANGUAGE TEACHING AND ENGLISH LITERATURE

AIMS AND OBJECTIVES OF GRADUATE PROGRAMS: The M.A. and Ph.D. programs in ELT introduce major theoretical and methodological issues in English Language Teaching and provide students with a firm foundation in the theoretical and applied aspects of the field. Both programs focus on current issues in teaching and learning languages and professional development of language teachers.

The M.A. and Ph.D. programs in ELIT aim at providing students with a thorough knowledge of English literature from the Middle Ages to our day; outstanding writers and their major works are studied, and the relationships between literature and intellectual trends and between literature and social problems are investigated. Students are expected to develop a critical approach to literature; they are taught the critical theories from Plato to Post structuralism. The program prepares those who intend to teach English literature in high schools where the medium of instruction is English and those who intend to become research assistants in the English Literature Departments of universities.

CAREER OPPORTUNITIES: Our graduates from ELT can work as curriculum specialists, program administrators and testers in educational institutions, or as translators. Our graduates from ELIT can work as English teachers in high schools, preparatory schools of universities, and as research assistants in the English Departments of universities.
